Grand Launch of Modern Training Site
To Set the Best Practice for the Construction Industry

Hong Kong • 23 December 2015 - The Construction Industry Council (CIC) is pleased to announce that the Modern Training Site is launched today which advance services of construction training and trade test.

This Modern Training Site locates at the CIC Tai Po Training Ground (Address: Dai Wah Street, Tai Po, New Territories). It covers approximately 36,100 square metres, with a maximum capacity of 288 persons.

Other features are as follows:-

1. Colour-coding and smart access system
2. Smart locker system
3. New changing rooms
4. A new central storage
5. Digital signage board
6. Water barrier fencing for zoning
7. Enhanced onsite traffic safety with better zoning
8. Electric internal transport vehicles
9. Vehicular and pedestrian separation
10. Upgraded training facilities

Ir LEE Shing-see, Chairman of the CIC said, “A modular design and intelligence system will improve resource rationalisation. I am proud to say that operational efficiency will be further enhanced by adopting these upgraded facilities.”

Besides the better user experience for the trainees, and trade test candidates, the Modern Training Site’s new concepts and design behind it will serve as a model for the local industry.

About the Construction Industry Council

The Construction Industry Council (CIC) was formed in 2007 under the Construction Industry Council Ordinance (Cap. 587). The CIC consists of a chairman and 24 members representing various sectors of the industry including employers, professionals, academics, contractors, workers, independent persons and Government officials.

The main functions of the CIC are to forge consensus on long-term strategic issues, convey the industry's needs and aspirations to Government, provide training and registration for the construction workforce and serve as a communication channel for Government to solicit advice on all construction-related matters.
